Overview

The purpose of this document is to show you what you can expect should you choose to invest in this product. The images on the following two pages are low-resolution “print preview” screen captures meant to provide a general idea of what is inside the book.

Specifically, this is what you’re looking at:

- Page 3: Main Book. This provides a brief description of the location and possible occupants, followed by the map broken into printable pages. The maps are at 1 inch = 5 feet scale with a grid built in. A composite map is provided so it is easy to put the pieces together, and a larger version of the exterior art is included (to serve as a player handout).
- Page 4: Printer Friendly Maps. Black-and-white versions of the map pages are also provided.
- Page 5: Sample Map. This is a single page from the main book, ready to be printed out and used with miniatures. The maps are designed to be laid end-to-end.
- Page 6: Summary. This is a copy of the online sales page (which you probably read before coming here).

The product also includes a poster-sized .jpeg image (24x36 inches at 150 dpi) for your use. This image is similar to the composite map from the main book, though with smaller labels.

Thank you for taking the time to explore this product. I hope that it, and other Ki Ryn Studios offerings can be of service in your game.

Blackwolf Manor

Blackwolf Manor lies on the narrow run of land between the river and the city walls. This stretch of prime waterfront real estate is home to a mix of high-class shops, storehouses, and the occasional residence. The 'manor' was built by Nickolai Blackwolf a century ago - before the nearby port grew into a bustling city. While the estate has been sold off piecemeal over the years, the old house is still called a manor and is home to last of the Blackwolf family.

This issue presents a detailed map of an urban two-story house, its outbuildings, and courtyard. To facilitate use with miniatures, the map has a 1 inch grid built into the artwork. Descriptions are given for the house and its inhabitants - ready for customization to your story and system of choice. With ample guest rooms and an attached stable, the house would serve as an excellent home for a group of adventurers. There is easy access to the city and a private dock out back. Part of the storehouse has even been converted into barracks for up to ten followers of any sort.

This product includes the following:

- An overview of the location and its occupants.
- Full color, miniature-scale map broken into 9 pages for easy printing.
- Black and white versions of the map pages.
- A 24x36 inch poster image at 1 inch = 5 feet scale.

As a home between adventures, or the location of the adventure itself, Blackwolf Manor can help bring your game to life. When its time to play, Zero Hour cartography is ready!
